

This is as sweet an original C.C. Harrison lens as you are going to find anywhere. It was made in 1852 in New York by America's premier lens maker of the day. The glass is near perfect, radial drive focus is smooth operating, and no dents or dings in it anywhere. Has its original brass lens cap and flange. It was made to cover quarter plate and smaller, which was the bulk of the portrait dag and ambrotype business in the 1850's. Add it to your rare lens collection or use it for fine images with that Petzval bokeh! Price: $4,500
